AIA/CES Registered Provider Program Summary Handout

Provider: DuPont Building Innovations
Program #: Fluid Applied
Program: Fluid Applied Air Barrier Membranes:
Advances and Applications

Length: 1 hour
Credits: 1 LU Hour
GBCI: Yes
AIA HSW: Yes

Description:

Today's buildings are responsible for 38% of the world's energy usage, causing the demand for highly energy efficient and durable buildings to increase. One of the key elements in a highly energy efficient and durable building envelope is a continuous air barrier and water barrier system.

There are several different types of air barrier membranes that are commonly used in the industry, although fluid applied air barriers continue to increase in popularity. There are hundreds of fluid applied air barrier products currently available and they vary greatly in thickness and formulation. As commercial buildings become more energy efficient and complex, the need for a "high performance" fluid air barrier system is increasing.

This presentation will discuss some of the key differences and performance advantages of these new high performance air barrier chemical formulations in contrast to traditional fluid applied air barrier formulations.

Learning Objectives: After attending this seminar, you will be able to:

1. Discuss the impact of air leakage on building performance
2. Distinguish between Fluid Applied Air Barrier technical properties using their formulation chemistries
3. Design building envelope systems with a Fluid Applied Air Barrier
4. Specify a Fluid Applied Air Barrier System to meet your project's performance requirements

Target Audience: Architects, Design Professionals, Specifiers, Owners, Contractors, Code Officials, Building Envelope Consultants, and Students. This program meets every experience level with time designed into the program for questions and answers.

CSI MEMBERSHIP

Fellow CSI Gulf States Region Members:

According to Institute you are each classified as emerging professionals of CSI. Personally I am not a fan of the word emerging and rather view you as fellow construction professionals.

That being said our elders of CSI have built a strong foundation which has allowed us an opportunity to excel in our industry but now it is time for us to look forward to the next 20 years.

With broadband, 3D printing and BIM sweeping the nation how are we and CSI prepared to continue our mission of providing quality construction to our clients?

I simply have one simple question for each of you: What do you need from CSI to assist the next 20 years of your professional construction career?

We were all gifted a wonderful organization and a wonderful industry. Let's continue to build on the hard work of those that came before us.

I look forward to hearing your responses and most importantly on behalf of the Institute and Region, THANK YOU for your membership in CSI!

William Sunquist, CSI

Donna Covert, Director: No report for BIM (formerly Revit) support group. Will Dunklin will contact Sherry Ault and suggest that she participate in product show with demonstration. Daniel Smith sent a message about upcoming award due dates: January 15th – Robert V. Bishop Award. He also relayed that several other award and commendation deadlines were provided in last month's report. Stacy Colbaugh will be submitted for the Spirit Award. It was suggested that the Lunch & Learn program be nominated for an award.

6.4 Communications (website, publication, and liaison) – Daniel Smith, Director: No report other than aforementioned information.

6.5 Fundraising (product show and golf tournament) – Kathy Proctor, Director: No report on Product Show besides the President Elect report. As reported last month, the golf tournament was a big success. There was discussion about hosting a skeet shoot as another possible fundraiser.

CSI LUNCH & LEARN: AIR MOVEMENT FOR ENERGY-EFFICIENT COMFORT IN CONDITIONED SPACES

Presented by Lacy Hohlbein, A/E Specialist, Big Ass Solutions

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 2015

LUNCH & NETWORKING: 11:30 A.M. – 12:00 P.M.

PRESENTATION: 12:00 P.M. – 1:00 P.M.

Hello CSI Members:

CSI Knoxville Chapter continues to offer you another learning opportunity provided by Lacy Hohlbein, A/E Specialist, Big Ass Solutions. This presentation offers 1 Hour CEU with the following Learning Objectives:

1. Primary factors affecting human thermal comfort and basics of ASHRAE Standard 55-2010 and the ASHRAE Thermal Comfort Tool.
2. Use of elevated air speed for increased air distribution efficiency & energy savings within air conditioned spaces.
3. Additional design benefits of minimizing ductwork, lower HVAC first cost, improved ventilation rates, and condensation reduction.
4. Stratification & Destratification, and the significant energy saving potential from destratifying a large open space.

As we move increasingly towards market viable net-zero buildings with initiatives like ASHRAE Vision 2020 and the 2030 Challenge, we must reevaluate the role that typical building components play in a facility's energy efficiency. ASHRAE 55 has highlighted the impact of elevated air speed on thermal comfort, and in recent years innovative designs have reestablished air movement as an integral part of occupant comfort and energy conservation. Furthermore, recent changes to Appendix G of ASHRAE 90.1 allow the inclusion of energy savings from using elevated air speed in energy simulations. When integrated into new building designs, air movement allows a reduction of air conditioning capacity and ductwork. In the winter, low speed air circulation redirects heated air trapped at the ceiling, resulting in significant energy savings. Project teams working on net-zero buildings have proven the effectiveness of incorporating air movement in building plans as part of an integrated design strategy.

Please relay this invitation to any and all interested parties especially those in your work place. This is a great opportunity to network and learn something new as well as an opportunity to introduce your guest to CSI. We welcome your attendance!
