THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

FALL HAS FINALLY ARRIVED!

MR. R. AARON MILLER, CSI, CDT, AIA
Design Innovation Architects
CSI Knoxville Chapter President
AMiller@dia-arch.com

Fall has finally arrived, which is one of my favorite times of the year when temperatures drop, the year begins to wind down, the holidays are getting closer, and football teams are in full swing. Your CSI team is also in full swing continuing to plan your regular monthly events, putting the finishing touches on this month's CSI Golf Tournament, and preparing for the upcoming CSI Product Show next March.

Speaking of teams, I had the pleasure of hearing former UT baseball assistant coach Larry Simcox speak to a local high school baseball team a couple of years ago. Coach Simcox used a bundle of pencils to explain the characteristics of teamwork. Take a single pencil in your hands and try to bend it and its individual weakness will eventually cause the pencil to break. Take that same pencil and combine it with additional pencils bundled together and try to bend it and their combined weaknesses coupled together turn to strength preventing them from breaking. Strength can be found in the numbers.

Like a sports team, your CSI team has some transition from year to year in its leadership as well as its overall membership. CSI Knoxville is coming up on its 60th year anniversary this Spring and the success of our Chapter has been evident in its numbers. The numbers of members we have had over the years, the number of leaders we have had, and the number of years CSI Knoxville has been successful in carrying out its mission of advancing the design and construction industry. As we look to the future, we also look for opportunities to build upon the CSI team and encourage its leaders of tomorrow. On October 17th at 6:00pm the Knoxville Chapter will be participating in a CSI Student Interest Meeting at the UT Art and Architecture Building. We ask that all CSI members make plans to attend this important event as we strive to enhance the Student Chapter, increase its membership, encourage participation, and look for the CSI leaders of tomorrow.

As we push through this Fall, let's focus on strengthening our numbers, as well as increasing member participation. Membership has already started to rise, but there is much more work to be done to support growth. We invite all members of CSI Knoxville to be an extension of the membership committee. It is going to take a team effort for us to reach our goal of 50% growth in membership. A reminder that guests are welcome to attend our Chapter meetings with their first visit's meal for free.

We want to thank the team at Exact Tile for hosting last month's Chapter meeting where we also saw an increase in the number of attendees. We are back at Calhoun's on the River for this month's Chapter Meeting and want to continue the growth trend by encouraging all CSI members, and their guests to come out and be a part of our monthly programs. See you next Tuesday!

WHAT I LEARNED FROM CSI... TOP 10 WOODWORK CONCERNS

Ms. SUSAN DAVIS, RA, CSI, CDT, PMP
CSI Knoxville Secretary
babydavis111603@aol.com

I was very fortunate to hear Margaret Fisher of Architectural Woodwork Institute (AWI) speak at our regional conference in June. She shared with us the "Top 10 Woodwork Concerns." Margaret is a great speaker and shared things relative to both residential and commercial construction. She was great to answer questions, provide free access to the new Architectural Woodwork Standards (AWS) to those who attended, and provide other contacts and resources. Here are Margaret's top 10:

1. Relative Humidity Do you know the optimal relative humidity and moisture content for the wood on your project? Did you know that it depends upon the wood species? If wood is too dry, you will see cracks. If it is too humid, you will see swelling. Having the HVAC operational is not a proper spec.

2. Avoid "Natural" Disasters Often times, we think our specs call for one thing when the term actually means something completely different. When we specify "natural" wood, we are saying to include all types of wood present in that species. This means that the heart wood and sapwood may make your project look like a zebra!

3. Specify Veneer Cut Wood can be cut in several different ways. The way it is cut will drastically affect the price and the grain appearance. Some examples are plain sawn, quarter sawn, rotary cut, and rift cut. Each term means the wood comes off of the log in a different way.

4. Metamerism Also called "barber-poling," metamerism is the light-dark-light-dark pattern that happens when you book match veneer. Try slip matched instead.

5. Submittals There are standards for what shop drawings should show. Arm yourself with the ability to reject poor submittals.

6. Reviewing Submittals Do you know what the AWS says your role in reviewing submittals is?

7. Sample Submittals Have you ever received one sample to represent a wood finish? How do you know what the acceptable range is in a natural product if you haven't been given control samples?

8. Sample Quantity AWS requires a minimum of three samples.

9. Storage and Delivery Conditions Have you had completed woodwork delivered to a jobsite to find out later that it was damaged due to improper protection? Edge-banding glue reactivates at 100*. Has your woodwork been stored in a controlled environment?

10. Cleaning Your woodwork should come with a warranty and cleaning instructions. Here's a hint: the cleaning product should not include wax or oil. Although I work with high quality wood finishes everyday, Margaret's talk reminded me there is a lot I don't know. The most important point she made, though, was that there is somewhere to turn to for that knowledge.

And isn't that exactly what CSI is all about?

Tile of Spain has taken their CEU program on the road once again! This time Tile of Spain headed to Knoxville, TN for a lunch and learn presentation during the CSI Knoxville monthly chapter meeting. The presentation was held at the Exact Tile showroom which is currently home to multiple Tile of Spain companies.

Attendees received a first hand look at the latest tile trends from Saloni Ceramica at their tabletop material showcase. Guests were in awe of Saloni’s ability to recreate the look and feel of different materials using advanced ink jet technology. Thank you to Exact Tile and CSI Knoxville for hosting us! Follow us on social media and stay tuned for more Tile of Spain events possibly coming to your city later this year! Want to bring a Tile of Spain CEU event to your city or office? Email us at info@tileofspainusa.com. This entry was posted in Blog and tagged CEU, Saloni, tile of spain by Nikki Scalia. Bookmark the permalink.

During the presentation, CSI Knoxville members and guests explored what’s trending and what’s next in Spanish ceramic tile by comparing prevailing design trends that help architects, designers and field members develop a stronger understanding of modern ceramic tile’s broad appeal and applicability. After the presentation, the group participated in a Q&A with Tile of Spain technical consultant and presenter Ryan Fasan where they were able to ask questions specific to their current clients and projects.
